

Group Quarters Residency

Workers' Group Living Quarters

A Group Quarters is a place where people live or stay in a group living arrangement that is owned or managed by an entity or organization providing housing and or services for the residents.

Group quarters include such places as college residence halls, residential treatment centers, skilled nursing facilities, group homes, military barracks, correctional facilities and workers dormitories.

Staff living at this type of Group Quarters who do not have any other usual residence elsewhere are counted in the same GQ as the other residents.

People in Workers Residential Facilities

People in Workers Residential Facilities such as migratory farm worker camps, oil field camps, construction workers camps, Job Corp centers and vocational training facilities.

People in workers group living quarters and Job Corps Centers on Census Day – Counted at the residence where they live and sleep most of the time. If the residents or staff members do not have a usual home elsewhere, they are counted at the facility.

(source: 2020 Census Residence Criteria and Residence Situation U.S. Census Bureau.com)

People In Transitory Locations

People at Transitory locations such as recreational vehicle (RV) parks, campgrounds, hotels and motels, hostels, marinas, racetracks, circuses, or carnivals – Anyone including staff members staying at the transitory location is counted at the residence where they live and sleep most of the time. If they do not have a usual home elsewhere, or they cannot determine a place where they live most of the time, they are counted at the transitory location.

People who do not have a usual residence, or who cannot determine a usual residence, are counted where they are on Census Day.