ENMU-ROSWELL GRADUATE NOW GRADUATE OF IVY LEAGUE COLLEGE

Amy Saz graduated from ENMU-Roswell in 2014 with an Associate of Arts degree in Business Administration. Amy is also now a graduate of Cornell University in New York. She completed a bachelor's degree in Industrial and Labor Relations in 2016 and received Master of Public Administration degree in December of 2017.

Amy was recently accepted for a paid internship program, where she will work as a graduate scholar with the New York State Assembly in Albany. She will help to research and draft legislation related to her passion, which is labor relations and immigration.

Amy said the internship will give her a better understanding of politics and how legislation is formed. Eventually, she would like to work with immigrant, working class populations in government or non-profit organizations at either the state or federal level.

She said she is excited to start her first job and feels she is more competitive with a graduate degree. "I have a larger skill set now. The MPA was challenging, but I am ready to start working and giving back to the community. You never should forget where you come from. My dad was an immigrant and he had to overcome challenges. That has motivated me and I want to make my parents proud. Going to Cornell has changed my life. I want to thank my family and friends and ENMU-Roswell and Cornell for believing in me and helping me achieve my academic and professional goals."

Department Update

WHAT'S NEW AT THE LRC

Over the past decade, the drug wars south of the border and their accompanying violence have alternately drastically heated up, subsided a bit and then accelerated once more. The late Southwestern author Charles Bowden wrote more than one non-fiction book (including Murder City), that detailed the huge acceleration in drug-related killings in Juarez, beginning in 2007 and continuing for at least half a decade afterward. Another best-selling author, Don Winslow, deals with the same topic, but on a broader geographic/timeframe scale and in works of fiction. The Learning Resource Center has two of his books that come highly recommended for anyone who wants to learn more about the sordid, nefarious dealings by these narcotraffickers and terrorists. They are Power of the Dog and The Cartel. The two main characters in each novel are Art Keller, a DEA agent and his former friend Adan Berrera, who has become the head of the world's most powerful cartel, and the man who brutally murdered Keller's partner. Each man has targeted the other for elimination. The books are based on many actual events that have taken place from the 1970s up to the present. They are definitely not for the faint of heart or those who become squeamish over scenes of torture and violence. But they are extremely well written and make for very compelling reads.

SECURITY UPDATE

SAFETY RESOLUTIONS FOR A NEW YEAR (AND NEW SEMESTER)!

January brings us a whole new year...and a whole new semester! With new students coming in, new classes being offered, and our weird Roswell weather doing some pretty strange things, the new beginning can be a bit chaotic. Make your New Year transition easier and safer by making a New Semester Resolution List! For example I resolve to:

- ✦ Never leave my dorm or car unlocked or open. This includes windows.
- ✦ Make sure I report all suspicious activities to the proper authorities, be it Campus Security or an instructor.
- ✦ Be aware of my surroundings; I will always have my keys ready when heading to my car or home/dorm.
- ✦ Always park in a well-lit area at night.
- ✦ Call Security for an escort if for any reason I feel unsafe.
- ✦ Be observant of the weather – I will look for icy sidewalks and always wear a jacket when weather dictates.
- ✦ I will utilize the buddy system and always have a friend with me when I go out, especially at night.
- ✦ Keep my personal belongings safe and out of sight. I will also report any theft or loss to Campus Security. Remember we can engrave your name on your items for proper identification if it does become stolen or misplaced.

Keep up with these few easy tips and your New Year will be successful! For more tips on safety for a New Year and new semester, check out: <http://collegelife.about.com/od/healthwellness/qt/SafetyTips.htm>

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Campus Safety/Security Department at (575) 624-7180, or come visit us at 5 MARS Road, between the ITC and IC buildings.
